Natural Organic Reduction utilizes the body's own naturally occurring microbes to gently transform remains into nutrient-rich soil. The process is conducted in individual vessels and takes approximately 60 – 90 days to complete.

The resulting soil can then be returned home or donated to a Woodland property in Kent, WA to aid in the restoration of a Washington Forrest.

Return Home is the reduction/terramation center that we use. Located in Washington, they use reduction/terramation as an earth-friendly, natural alternative.
